

Discrimination 'Off-Limits'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Armed Services were authorized Friday to declare off-limits to troops any areas where "relentless discrimination persists against Negro servicemen and their families."

In granting the authority, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara provided that such declarations may be applied by base commanders only if they have a prior okay from the secretary of the service concerned — Army, Navy or Air Force.

War Against Discrimination

MONTREAL (AP) — The fourth World Conference on Faith and Unity, in a committee report, Friday called on Christians to fight racial discrimination "whatever the cost."

The report charged such discrimination is one of the major problems preventing Christian unity.

"God does not ask the sex of a person or the color of his skin, or his social class, or the economic status he holds, or his language, or his political affiliation, or his denomination," the report said.

It was one of five submitted to the final session of the two-week conference. No particular country was singled out for criticism, but earlier delegates had assailed racial practices in the United States, South Africa, Ceylon and the Portuguese African territory of Angola.

'K' Presses Nonaggression

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, a partial nuclear test ban treaty initiated, Friday called on the West to press ahead with negotiations for a nonaggression pact between NATO and the Communist bloc.

He called the test ban treaty a step toward ending cold war tensions.

He said Britain and the United States already had agreed in the test ban talks to negotiations on the nonaggression question.

Senate Eyes New Test Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate committees lined up Friday for a thorough scrutiny of the new East-West test ban treaty to determine whether it will be in this country's best interest to join.

President Kennedy took his case in support of the U.S.-British-Soviet agreement to outlaw atmospheric, space and underwater nuclear testing to the people via radio and television Friday night.

Tearing the pact "a victory for mankind," Kennedy said "it is an important first step — a step toward peace — a step toward reason — a step away from war."

Aluminum, Union Agree

NEW YORK (AP) — Major aluminum producers came to terms with the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers Friday, in an agreement similar to that in the steel industry. A major feature of the new contract is a 10-week vacation every five years.

Negotiations for extension of an old contract began only nine days ago, and the talks were among the shortest and most harmonious in the history of the aluminum industry.

Castro Calls JFK 'Ruffian'

HAVANA (AP) — Shouting "swindlers" and referring to President Kennedy as a "ruffian," Prime Minister Fidel Castro Friday accused the United States of failing to live up to the ransom deal for the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners.

Castro also declared Cuba is ready to negotiate differences with the United States—but added "we are not willing to make any ideological concessions and we will maintain our close relationships with the Soviet Union."

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Late buying enabled the stock market Friday to post its second advance in 13 sessions as trading shrank to the lightest pace of 1963.

Volume dropped to 2.52 million shares from Thursday's 3.7 million and was the smallest since the semi-annual session of Oct. 12, 1962 when 2.02 million shares changed hands.

The dull trading reflected extreme caution, brokers said, and this was heightened by the uncertainties of the weekend ahead and the fact that there have been 14 successive "blue Mondays" in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Quake Kills Thousands

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A violent earthquake hit the heart of Skopje at dawn Friday, badly damaging or destroying 80 per cent of the city's buildings and killing possibly 1,000 persons, Tanjug news agency reported.

Fires broke out. Great clouds of dust rose over the city of 270,000 people as buildings came crashing down. Thousands of persons, clad only in nightclothes, fled into streets in panic.

Borba, the biggest newspaper in this Communist nation, reported Friday night that 2,010 of Skopje's 270,000 residents perished in a matter of minutes.

But officials in Belgrade and refugees pouring out of Skopje expressed fear Saturday the final toll will be many times the Broba account.

At U.N. headquarters in New York, Security Council President Ahmed Taibi Benhima announced that 10,000 persons had been killed and 100,000 left homeless in the disaster. However, he said later he based his announcement on unofficial dispatches reaching the U.N. headquarters.

Some Americans, tourists or other visitors, were reported in the city when the first shattering quake struck. There was no word whether any had been killed or injured.

Rescue squads rushed to Skopje, a city of minaret and mosques 210 miles southeast of Belgrade. From all over Yugoslavia trucks and buses were pressed into service to evacuate victims.

The official news agency Tanjug reported a mercy airlift was operating between Skopje and Ljubljana in northern Yugoslavia to ferry rescue teams and medical supplies.

Living Costs Soar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs in the United States in June took their longest leap forward in nine months and the end is not in sight.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor statistics reported Friday the June consumer price index stood at 106.6, up four-tenths of one per cent from the previous month and a record high.

The price index, a comparison with the base period of 1957-59, was 1.2 per cent above June of last year, primarily because of higher prices for food, housing and medical care, the bureau said.

After a two-month period of stability, prices advanced in June for most major types of goods and services. Substantial increases were noted in food, tobacco and used cars. New increases in sales taxes also helped boost living costs.

Further Increase Seen

Arnold Chase, the bureau's assistant commissioner for prices, predicted a further increase for July, but said it would be mostly seasonal.

The new June index means that it now costs 66 cents more to buy the items that $10 would have purchased in the 1957-59 period.

Chase said the story of the living cost rise in June was "primarily the story of sugar, cigarettes and higher taxes." Seasonal trends helped too, he said, particularly in used cars for the summer driving season.

Chase indicated, however, that the general price rise did not point to an inflationary trend but reflected more past inflationary pressures than future.

Reds Attempt Propaganda Display

10th Year Of Korean Armistice

PANMUNJOM, South Korea (AP) — Communist North Korean officers tried to pull off a propaganda show in Panmunjom on the eve of the 10th anniversary Saturday of the signing of the Korean armistice.

They didn't get far.

Their antics Friday would have been funny except for one thing—their display of a photograph of a dead American serviceman with a gaping hole in the back of his neck, slumped in the cockpit of a plane. A spokesman said the picture was made Aug. 17, 1955.

That was the date Capt. Charles W. Brown of West Louisville, Ky., was reported killed. He was flying at the time with Lt. Guy H. Bumpas Jr., of Jackson, Miss.

Returned In A Week

Bumpas was returned by the Communists in a week. He reported the two were shot down by small arms fire near Chuncheon, along the demilitarized zone.

The rest of the evidence of alleged armistice violations that the Communists presented a five-hour meeting at this armistice control center was described by U.S. Maj. Gen. George M. Cloud, chairman of United Nations Command, as a cheap burlesque act to cover up their own violations.

The Communists would not discuss the return of two American helicopter pilots they have kept 10 weeks.

"Nauseating," was the term Cloud used in describing the way the North Koreans are treating the subject of the captured helicopter pilots — Capt. Ben W. Stuts of Florence, Ala., and Capt. Charles W. Voltz of Frankfurt, Mich.

JFK: Test Ban Mankind Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, speaking to the nation in a spirit of cautious hope, said Friday night the tripartite test ban agreement of Moscow "is a victory for mankind."

The chief executive added that: "This treaty is not the millennium. It will not resolve all conflicts, or cause the Communists to forego their ambitions, or eliminate the dangers of war."

"It will not reduce our need for arms or allies, or programs of assistance to others."

"But it is an important first step — a step toward peace—a step toward reason—a step away from war."

The chief executive spoke via radio and television at a time when the Senate is rumbling with an awareness that Russia, in the past, has broken treaties, and with the misgivings that recall Senate rejection of the League of Nations a generation ago.

The limited nuclear test ban agreement, worked out in 10 days of climactic discussions between the United States, Britain and Russia, would outlaw tests in space, the atmosphere and under water, but not on land.

With the negotiation of the pact, initiated Thursday in Moscow, went a British-U.S. agreement to explore with their NATO allies Russia's bid for a nonaggression pact to establish a cold war truce between the East and West.

Changed Course

Kennedy noted Friday night that the advent of nuclear weapons 18 years ago changed the course of the world and the course of war. In the interval, he said, tension has mounted and produced increased arms, and "each increase in arms has produced an increase in tension."

The President said that, through the years, the two great nuclear powers—the United States and the Soviet Union—frequently exchanged suspicions and warnings, but rarely hope—that "our representatives had met at the summit and at the brink."

"Yesterday," the chief executive said, "a shaft of light cut into the darkness. . . . For the first time, an agreement has been reached on bringing the forces of nuclear destruction under international control. . . ."

Various control plans, starting in 1946, Kennedy recalled, all have been blocked by those opposed to international inspection — he meant Russia.

On The Spot

Kennedy said that a ban on nuclear tests, however, requires on-the-spot inspection only for underground tests. He offered this assurance:

"This nation now possesses a variety of techniques to detect the nuclear tests of other nations which are conducted in the air or under water. For such tests produce unmistakable signs which our modern instruments can pick up."

Thursday's treaty, Kennedy said, prohibits only those tests which Americans themselves can police.

In contrast with any risks that might be involved in signing the test ban treaty—and Kennedy was sounding the opening gun in an apparent campaign for Senate ratification — the President said a full-scale nuclear war lasting less than 60 minutes "could wipe out more than 300 million Americans, Europeans and Russians, as well as untold numbers everywhere."

"Would Envy Dead"

Picking up the words of Soviet Premier Khrushchev in a warning to the Communist Chinese, Kennedy said that the survivors "would envy the dead."

"For," he said, "they would inherit a world so devastated by explosions and poison and fire that today we cannot even conceive of all its horrors."

The President told his listeners the step taken in Moscow Thursday could mean to them and their children and their neighbors a "step toward reduced world tensions and broader areas of agreement."

Kennedy said no one can predict with certainty "what further agreement, if any, can be built on the foundations of this one." He noted that Russia still is unwilling to accept the inspection required by a ban on all tests, including those underground, and that the Moscow talks reached no agreement beyond the one on a limited test ban pact.

Nor, the President said, "is this treaty conditioned on any other matter."

This was a way of saying there were no secret agreements extending beyond the range of the three-power pact initiated Thursday — such as a nonaggression treaty between NATO and Warsaw Pact nations which Khrushchev advocates.

Rails Clobbers Kennedy's Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Railroad union spokesmen Friday assailed President Kennedy's plans for ending the work-rules dispute, the AFL-CIO urged congressionally supervised bargaining and the government reopened the stalemate bargaining sessions.

These developments came in swift succession.

The chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission told the House Commerce Committee that his agency didn't seek the job of deciding on work-rule changes, which Kennedy wants it to take over, but said the ICC can handle the task if Congress so directs.

The chief of the engineers' union told the Senate Commerce Committee the ICC is wholly unacceptable as an arbitrator and the presidential proposal is "harsh and unfair (and) dangerous in the extreme."

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, submitted to Congress a resolution as a substitute for the ICC plan. It would provide for an open-end, no-strike period of continuous bargaining under indirect scrutiny of a 10-man congressional committee, with talks to continue until final agreement.

The White House declined comment on Meany's proposal.

The vehemence of the union attack on the ICC proposal prompted the acting chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., to ask a union spokesman whether there might be a chance for voluntary agreement if the committee recessed its hearings for a week so the disputants could meet again.

Schroter Free On $5,500 Bail

STROUDSBURG — Walter A. Schroter, 33, of Stroudsburg, RD 5, was released from Monroe County Jail on a total of $5,500 bail yesterday. He faces court action on nine counts of burglary, two of larceny and one of loitering.

A total of $4,000 bail on the burglary charges was set by Judge Fred W. Davis. Bail of $1,000 on the two larceny counts had been set by Mrs. Ruth E. Miller, Stroud Township justice of the peace. The $500 bail on the loitering count had been set by Richard T. Hickman, Bushkill justice of the peace.

Schroter was arrested by State Police of the Stroudsburg barracks earlier this week on a charge of loitering at Fernwood Motel and subsequently admitted the burglaries and larcenies, most of them from homes under construction.

Sees Little Hope

A union spokesman said he sees little hope for effective bargaining as long as the railroads think they can get compulsory arbitration. But Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, present at the hearing, said he thinks the bargaining idea "an eminently sound suggestion."

And he announced forthwith that he was summoning representatives of both sides to resume bargaining talks in his office Friday night.

46 Kids Dazed By Gas

READING, Pa. (AP) — Forty-six children and three employees at a city-operated swimming pool were overcome or sickened Friday by chlorine gas when a valve jammed. The pool was crowded this hot, sticky 95 degree day with about 75 children at the time.

Dazed children wandered through the clouds of the gas that saturated the immediate neighborhood. They were rushed to Reading's three hospitals by ambulances, police cars, private autos and even taxicabs.

The children and pool personnel groped through a heavy concentration of gas fumes to escape from the pool area, especially the bathroom area where they were strongest.

A policeman arriving at the scene said he got a slight whiff of the gas which quickly dissipated into the atmosphere.

Valve Jammed

Andy Stopper, 46, athletic director at Reading High School, told police the valve jammed when he tried to inject chlorine gas vapor into the pool from a cylinder of liquid chlorine.

Stopper, one of the three pool employees hospitalized, was reported in serious condition at Community General Hospital. The others were taken to Reading and St. Joseph's Hospitals.

Susan Salonia, 19, a lifeguard, one of the first aware of the fumes, immediately blew her whistle, clearing the pool. She also was hospitalized.

The third employee hospitalized was Wilford Fromuth.

School Bus Support Gained In Senate

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate voted Friday for a proposed constitutional amendment to permit the state to support bus transportation for private and parochial schools.

Republicans, seeking to put the entire question of bus transportation for non-public school children to a vote of the people, picked up one Democratic vote to carry the constitutional amendment plan 27-14.

An hour earlier, three Republican senators helped the Democrats defeat a plan for a popular vote test this coming November.

The vote was 24-17, two short of the 26 affirmative votes required by the Constitution.

Opponents of the referendum plan claimed that the voting would stir religious animosities throughout the state and turn neighbor against neighbor.

The constitutional amendment was sent to the House for further action. But it still requires approval by the 1965 legislature before it can be put on the general election ballot.

The House, meanwhile, deferred

Faces Barriers

Syncom 2 Beams Races Into Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Syncom 2, a new breed of space communications station, raced into orbit Friday but faced critical barriers before it could achieve its goal as the world's first synchronous satellite—one which appears to hang like a star over one area of the globe.

As the glittering package raced into space, it demonstrated it was ready for communications tests by receiving and beaming back to earth a recording of the music of "The Star-Spangled Banner," a voice tape and a Teletype message.

The experiments were beamed from the Navy communications ship Kingsport, anchored in the harbor at Lagos, Nigeria, on the West African coast. The satellite transmitted back to ship.

The workhorse Delta rocket, which now has rung up 19 straight launching successes, hoisted Syncom 2 over the first hurdle and propelled it into a great elongated orbit ranging from 140 to 22,300 miles above the earth. The three-stage rocket roared away from Cape Canaveral at 10:33 a.m.

Other Plans

However, just placing the satellite in orbit was not the purpose of the launching. Project officials want it to settle into a steady path about 22,300 miles high and then jockey it into a synchronous position over the equator over northern South America. The satellite would stay above this area because it would be traveling at the same relative speed that the earth rotates beneath it.

Some 5½ hours after launching, Syncom 2 was to reach the high point of its egg-shaped orbit.

The above-South America location was selected as the best for communications experiments between the two principal ground stations—the Kingsport and a facility at Lakehurst, N.J.

Syncom 2 was expected to be "mutually visible" above the horizon to both stations for the first communications tests between the United States and Africa by Monday.

No Peace Rally At ESSC

EAST STROUDSBURG — About 40 peace marchers, affiliated with the Committee for Non-Violent Action, are due to march into Stroudsburg today, but they won't hold a scheduled rally at East Stroudsburg State College.

Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, college president, said yesterday that no permission for such a meeting has been given by the administrative authorities of the college.

He added that he personally refused the use of the campus for such a purpose in a telephone conversation with a representative of the marchers.

The group arrived in Mt. Pocono last night and was scheduled to be split into two groups. One was to go to Allentown and the other was scheduled to spend last night at a farm outside of Stroudsburg.

The group sent here is scheduled to march into Stroudsburg today and continue into New Jersey tomorrow.

action until Monday on a bill that contains an amendment to permit public school districts to provide bus transportation over established routes to children attending non-profit private and parochial schools.

Advocates of such aid won an initial victory Thursday with acceptance of the amendment by the House.

Sen. Paul L. Wagner, R-Schuylkill, said the question should be put to a popular vote because the question of aid to non-public schools "is completely revolutionary to the practices and traditions of the people of Pennsylvania."

Sen. Clarence D. Bell, R-Delaware, who voted against the November test but for the constitutional amendment, said:

"A referendum can well cause religious crusades between Christian churches who believe in the same goal."

Bell said he voted against the first referendum because he favors immediate aid to non-public school pupils. He voted for the constitutional amendment he said, as a backstop in case such aid is declared unconstitutional in the meantime.

The constitutional question would specifically write into the state's basic law a section authorizing school bus transportation for non-public pupils.

Other Action

Democrats, with one exception—Sen. John C. Miller, Beaver—held firm against both referendum plans.

Legislative highlights:

Truck Weights — The Senate passed and sent to the House, 31-8 a bill to increase maximum truck weights from 60,000 pounds to 73,380 pounds for five-axle tractor-trailer combinations. It would authorize the highways department to designate the roads which may be used by the heavier rigs, increase license fees for the bigger trucks and double the penalties for overweight violations.

Anthracite Stripping Controls — Amendments by the Senate Mines Committee restore to its original form a bill to tighten controls for anthracite strip mines.

2 Injured In Trailer, Car Crash

MT. POCONO — Two persons were injured in the collision of a car and a tractor-trailer on Route 611, two miles south of Mt. Pocono, at 9:45 a.m. yesterday.

State Police of the local barracks said a car driven by Lewis W. Resh, 38, of 1513 Washington Ave., Northampton, struck the rear of a tractor-trailer driven by Harold W. Altomero, 32, of Pocono Pines.

Resh's father-in-law, Arthur Miller, 63, of Northampton, had a left arm injury and Joanne Sek, 15, of Northampton, another passenger in the car, received a bruised right leg. Both declined treatment.

Troopers said the south-bound tractor-trailer was turning into the National Drug Co. at Swiftwater when the car struck it in the rear.

Kunkletown Boy, 10, Killed

LEHIGHTON — A 10-year-old Kunkletown boy was killed 5 p.m. yesterday when he was hit by a dump truck driven by his cousin.

Dennis Gene Bartholomew, son of Mrs. Doris F. Bartholomew, and the late Gene F. Bartholomew, was riding a bicycle on township Rt. 428 when he was crushed under the dual wheels of a dump truck driven by David Russell Bartholomew, 15, according to State Police at Lehighton.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Bartholomew of Kresgeville.

Trooper Joseph Yanall of the Lehighton barracks is conducting the investigation.

Dennis Bartholomew is survived by his mother, one sister, Bonnie Kay; two brothers, Robert and Thomas, all at home; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bartholomew of Kunkletown; and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Philman Fairchild of Weisport, Pa.

Funeral services will be Monday at 2 p.m. in the Jerusalem United Church of Christ in Trunksville, with the Rev. Adan N. Bohner officiating.

"Where Is Your Brother?"ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Genesis 4:1-11

Adam's first son, Cain, became a farmer, while his second son, Abel, became a shepherd. When they brought sacrifice of their produce to God, Abel's found more acceptance with God, due to the spirit in which it was offered.—Genesis 4:1-5.

Cain was angry over this, instead of repentant. God warned him not to be jealous, but simply to do better himself. However, despite God's warning, Cain rose up against his brother one day in the field and murdered him.—Genesis 4:5-8.

Such sinfulness continued to grow as generations passed, until God decided to wipe out existing mankind with a great flood. One godly man, Noah, was saved through God's orders to build an ark for his family and each of the animals.—Gen. 6:5-7:16.

After several months in the ark, Noah sent forth a dove. When it returned with an olive leaf, Noah knew it was safe to go forth. His first act was to build an altar and thank God.—Genesis 7:17-8:22.

Catholic High School Opening Set For 1967

EAST STROUDSBURG—The construction of a high school for St. Matthew's Roman Catholic parish of East Stroudsburg was announced recently after a meeting of the men of the parish.

The school will be constructed on the church's 15 acres of land in Stroud Township, and a target date for the opening is 1967.

Catholic Congress

ROME (AP)—Plans were made by the Roman Catholic Committee of International Congresses of the Lay Apostolate for a world congress of Catholic laymen, probably in 1965, to help implement new policies concerning the laity authorized by the Second Vatican Council.

Christie D. Shull, a Stroudsburg lawyer, led a discussion on the proposed school construction in the parish auditorium after the resolution was adopted.

According to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. Cawley, pastor, several committees to study the various phases of the timetable and the construction itself are being formed.

Committee to study the projected growth in the area, in order to determine the potential enrollment, and a building committee will be formed in the near future. Committees to study the technical aspects of the project will also be formed, according to Msgr. Cawley.

Because there are no federal grants for private education the project will have to rely strictly on local funds.

Finnish Archbishop Awaits Lutheran World Assembly

THE mutual benefit of meeting with Christian brothers of other countries is specially emphasized by the Archbishop of Finland, Dr. Ilmarinen, as he looks forward to the Lutheran World Federation Assembly which opens in Helsinki on July 30.

Contact with other Lutheran Churches and closer insight into their present-day life and problems will be very helpful to us, because we are a little isolated and tend to stay by ourselves, outside the main streams, he says — so it is a special joy to welcome our Lutheran brethren to Finland. On the other hand, the Archbishop voices hope that the deep piety of the Finnish church people, which has grown in silence and under hardships, may make an enriching impression on the foreign visitors.

The Finnish Primate, who was 70 on July 17, believes that it is in this give-and-take of meeting together that Lutherans of many lands will most clearly see their common foundation and derive new strength to meet the challenges given them. This, he says with quiet assurance, is our hope and expectation concerning the Assembly that is to be held in our country.

Dr. Salomies became the 50th occupant of the Bishop's seat of Turku and head of the Church of Finland in 1961. Outside the window of his study there looms the great steeple of the old, medieval Cathedral that is like a national shrine for his country and Church.

Dr. Salomies is a church historian and perhaps it is his long and serene view over the centuries that makes the frontiers of the time and place disappear into the shadows of the summer evening. Only a few months ago the third part of his History of the Finnish Church was published. It discusses a troubled period in the life of the Church — from the beginning of the 18th century till the Finnish War of 1808-09, after which the centuries-old ties to Sweden were broken.

And when one sees the kind of tribulations through which the Finnish Church has lived and the heavy suffering by which the faith of the people has been tried, the present day with its many demanding problems and disquieting phenomena fits into right proportions and is not without fear.

It is not possible to fight against new ideas, says Dr. Salomies; they spread in spite of all prohibitions and laws. So it was

Today's Lesson:

Where Is Your Brother?

By N. SPEER JONES

THIS WEEK'S lesson repeats again the Biblical assignment for last week, but with different emphasis. Last week we saw how sin entered into the human race; this week we see how it grows to such proportions that God repented his creation of man, and destroyed most of mankind.

The first great step in this tragic growth was the murder of Abel, son of Adam and Eve, by his own brother, Cain. How old the two were exactly we do not know, but it seems clear that they were grown men.

It is interesting to note the Cain comes from the Hebrew literal meanings of their names, "kain" which means to acquire; thus Cain, the first-born, was an "acquisition." Abel means "vanity." This may indicate the fact that vanity almost always follows acquisitions; it may also indicate a subconscious ous prophecy of the cause of his death.

In respect to their offerings, it may be that Cain's "fruit of the ground" was not merely the produce of the ground which he tilled, but that it consisted of fruit which had already fallen off the trees and vines and lay on the ground — clearly not the best produce, since it would at least be bruised. Abel, on the other hand, brought the first-tings of his flock; he made sacrifice with his first produce.

In any event, it is clear from Hebrews 11:4 that the true difference between the offerings lay in the spirit in which they were given — Abel's with the true desire to return a portion of God's immense gifts to us, and Cain's with a mere ritualistic formality.

Notice that God saw Cain's anger and jealousy after his sacrifice had failed to please God, and that He warned and encouraged Cain most kindly telling him it was possible to redeem himself and warning him to guard against his feelings of envy. Here is what the psychologists term sibling rivalry — a feeling they consider almost a universal human trait — in its earliest form, in the world's first two siblings.

In Genesis 4:9 we come to the second direct cross-examination by God in the Bible. Notice that while Adam and Eve had been evasive, they at least had the virtue of humility. In their son, sin has hardened humility into impudence.

One of Adam's sons, Seth, was a godly man who begat a godly line of descendants in the midst of the world's increasing sinfulness. Ninth in this line of descent from Adam was Noah, whom God saved during the deluge.

After the flood, Noah is told, as Adam was, to replenish the earth. From his son Shem come all the Semitic peoples. From this line came Abraham.

THE TWO bodies faced each other, only inches apart, and the dance began.

Slowly the couple responded to the wild beat of primitive rhythm, their feet seemed rooted in the ground while their bodies shook and vibrated to the pulsating, erotic music.

As the sound grew in pitch so did the gyrations of the two dancers. Thrilling music dominated the actions of the boy and girl as motion was concentrated in the pelvic regions.

The ritual dance now reached its climax with the near exhaustion of the performers who were visibly tiring now due to the rapid undulating movements required.

The expressions, however, were blank as if the male and female were in a deep erotic trance. The twisting contortions of the bodies and the passive expression made a great study in contrast.

The music suddenly topped and the dancers melted into the dark background. The dance was over.

I wished with all my heart that I could now climb aboard my canoe and depart from this voluptuous little island and wave a fond goodbye into the setting sun.

There was no island and the dancers were not natives doing a tribal mating dance. They were modern day teen-agers at a sponsored teen-dance supervised by adults! No dance of heathen natives could possibly have shocked me more than this "approved" teen dance.

This exhibition not only was suggestive, but it SHOUTED sex! This "shimmy" and dances like it are calculated to give the dancers an emotional sweep of feeling ending in passion and aroused sexual urge. All this in the name of "good clean fun" and "something for the kids to do."

The old fashioned square dance has a lot more to offer. It is a great "ice breaker" and good robust fun for people of all ages and by the time that one has bounded through several sets the pent-up energy is exhausted and wholesome fun was enjoyed by all.

Something, because it is new, is not necessarily good and old ways, are often better. It seems to me that the old-time frolics and hoedowns enabled more folks to enjoy themselves at one time than this modern so-called dancing.

There is enough emphasis on immorality in our modern world to lead young people astray without going to the jungle for inspiration to entertain our youth, and possibly plunge them into a deep abyss of sin from which they may never recover.

Hoping For "True Equality" Clergymen Participate In Race Demonstrations

The words echoed against the steel walls of the jail cells. "The Lord is in His holy temple: let all the earth keep silence before Him." It was an odd temple and an unusual group of worshippers.

Yet the circumstances mirrored a piercing note of the times. The scene was a row of cells in Manhattan's 7th Precinct police station. Behind the bars were nine men, eight of them pastors of churches in the area. One clergyman was Negro; seven were white.

The nine had been arrested this week in a demonstration protesting alleged job discrimination against Negroes and Puerto Ricans at a city-sponsored housing project on the lower East Side. It was one in a wave of such cases in New York.

In this instance, the ministers — four Episcopalians, two Baptists and two Presbyterians — had locked arms, barring the way of construction vehicles. They were taken to jail on disorderly conduct charges.

Each of the clergymen was held in a small, one-man cell, about a yard and a half wide, and long enough for a steel-frame cot. They could not see each other, only the solid walls and the barred doors facing a narrow corridor.

At first, they recounted later, they sought to learn each other's whereabouts by calling back and forth but a police officer told them to shut up.

Moments later, the curious worship service began, each man alone, yet all joined together in the Scriptures, prayers, litanies and hymns. There were no more interruptions.

The interdenominational jail-house service of morning prayer, from the English prayerbook, was led by the Rev. J. Michael Allen, pastor of historic St. Mark's in the-Bouwerie Episcopal church, the oldest religious site in Manhattan. Several of the other pastors had Bibles or prayerbooks with them.

A mighty fortress is our God, a bulwark never failing," sang the little group confined at the 7th Precinct.

Newly formed into the "Lower East Side Fellowship of Ministers," they said they acted to point up what they termed violations of fair-employment practices laws by building trades unions at the city's Rutgers housing project.

Among the clergy, besides Father Allen, were three other Episcopal priests, Fathers Thomas Pike, William D. Dwyer and Richard E. Gary; two Presbyterians, the Revs. Davis W. Romig and Al Reuter, and two Baptists, the Revs. Richard E. Johnson and William C. Chapman, a Negro.

All serve lower East Side congregations. At the close of their jail service, Father Allen bid the group to silent prayers for the police "that they may do justly," for other prisoners, past and future, and for "our city, our state and our country, that they may serve the Lord."

Removed from their cells later in the day, and arraigned, the group was released for a hearing Monday.

State News Roundup

Scranton Inks Medicare Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton signed into law Friday liberalized benefits under the medical care to the aged program. Noting that the improved program fulfilled a campaign promise, the governor added:

"Pennsylvanians can be proud that while much of the nation continues to debate the merits of various kinds of medicare programs, we have moved ahead to meet our responsibilities in the best way possible under existing federal legislation (the Kerr-Mills Act)."

The new provisions, which become effective Oct. 1, will cost the state an estimated $2.9 million the first year. They will:

- Eliminate the practice of demanding repayment for medical aid from the estates of patients.
- Increase the allowable limits on combined assets and annual income to be eligible for maximum benefits.
- The combined asset limit for single persons is increased from $1,500 to $2,400 and for married couples from $2,400 to $3,800.
- Persons with assets and income over these amounts may receive partial benefits.
- Permit up to 60 days' care in private nursing homes after patients leave the hospital.
- Pre-qualify aged persons to eliminate questioning during stress of an illness.

Grandmother Sent To Jail

BUTLER, Pa. (AP) — A 54-year-old grandmother, accused of embezzling $459.00, was committed to a women's prison Friday for a minimum of two years.

Mrs. Mae Wheeler, who had been free under $40,000 bond during her trial in 1961 and subsequent appeals, showed no emotion on hearing the commitment order by Judge Morgan H. Sobin of Beaver County.

She will serve the term at the State Correctional Institution for Women at Muncie.

Mrs. Wheeler, prominent in civic and social affairs, was convicted Oct. 18, 1961 of five forgery and 55 embezzlement charges in the shortage at the Workmen's Building and Loan Association in Butler.

She was sentenced last Oct. 13 but appealed to the State Superior Court. The court upheld the lower court's conviction. Later, she appealed to the State Supreme Court. This appeal also was rejected.

Students State Colleges Fee Up

HARRISBURG (AP) — Students at state colleges must pay a $10 per semester fee for the use of student union buildings under a measure signed into law by Gov. Scranton.

Other new laws approved by the governor will:

- Permit third class cities to increase their real estate tax rate from 15 to 20 mills.
- Remove the signature of the state secretary of revenue from driver's license and motor vehicle registration cards.
- Provide for the appointment of non-farmer members of the board of the state Soil Conservation Commission.
- Confirm the right of principals and vice principals to exercise authority over public school pupils.

Air Tragedy Reason Given

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy Board of Inquiry said today that failure of an electrical generator caused the crash of a jet fighter plane at Willow Grove, Pa., July 7th. The accident claimed eight lives.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., was advised of the Navy's findings in advance of a public announcement. The Senate Commerce Committee at his request, has launched an informal investigation of the accident.

The plane crashed into a recreation area while trying to land at the Willow Grove Naval Air Station north of Philadelphia.

Scott said the Navy Board absolved Marine Capt. John W. Butler, the pilot, of any blame.

Probationary Driver License

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to the House yesterday legislation to set up probationary drivers' licenses for suspended motorists and truckers who need to drive for a livelihood.

The bill passed, 34-8, after a flurry of opposition led by minority leader Charles R. Weiner, D-Philadelphia.

Weiner argued that the bill would return to the highways "a lot of people who are unfit to drive."

Sen. Rooney Blames Bartlett For Layoff

CATASAUQUA — State Sen. Fred B. Rooney charged last night that since Robert G. Bartlett went to work for Bethlehem Steel Corp. five years ago the firm has laid off more than 7,000 production and maintenance workers.

Kicking off a motorcade tour of North Catasauqua, Rooney said of his opponent:

"Yet he has the cast-iron gall to say that he will work for full employment in the Congress of the United States."

He added:

"I don't think the workers in this district will be fooled by the hypocrisy of an assistant to the assistant personnel manager of one of the world's biggest corporations when he pretends to be interested in the problems of the working man."

"There is only one boss-picked candidate in this campaign—and that is the man the big bosses picked—the Republican candidate. He is a company candidate whose loyalty lies with the big corporation executives who reached down and elevated him to this candidacy and are now trying to buy his way into the Congress of the United States.

There is a lot riding on this election next Tuesday—but the most important thing of all is whether the people of this district — all the people — will be given fair representation.

"You have known me for five years as a State Senator and I hope that you know that my first policy has always been to serve the people without regard for political affiliation or any other consideration whatever."

"That is the kind of representation I pledge to you, now, if you honor me by electing me to be your voice in Congress."

Tours Factories
Earlier, during a tour of garment factories in Carbon County, Rooney said there are "important things" which must be worked for in the 15th Congressional District.

"We must bring together the people of this district and work with them for constructive Federal Aid to create good jobs for men in new, growing and expanding industries," he said.

"We must join in a fight against legislation which will cripple either labor or business."

"We must fight for a quality technical education so that our children will be prepared to compete for good jobs in better-paying industries."

"We must seek to broaden the market for anthracite coal, to find new ways to use this great resource and put it back on the world market."

"We must convince the West German government that its tariff on American coal imports is prohibitive and unfair, that it is stifling the economic growth, not only of this area, but of the free world."

"We must constantly fight to maintain a strong, prepared America — but we dare not turn our backs on the prospects for world peace."

"We must secure an agreement to ban nuclear testing in the air and prevent pollution of the atmosphere — and we must be certain that such an agreement fully guarantees against violation by either side."

"Most of all, we must carry on the business of the Nation and this District with calm reasoning and rational deliberation. We will gain nothing whatever by the kind of saber-rattling propaganda the spoiled Republican candidate has been mouthing in this campaign."

Urges 'Break' For Consumers

Bartlett Praises Workers

NAZARETH — Robert G. (Bob) Bartlett yesterday praised the "patriotism and wholesome American spirit of the hundreds of people who have participated in this election campaign." He told a group of Volunteers for Bartlett in Nazareth that only by responsible people participating in politics could it truly be "the science of government and not an automatic lusterless process."

"The same elements who protest about automation of industry want to introduce automation to politics," Bartlett said. He said the current campaign has illustrated their philosophy of "don't ask, just vote as we say." While I have been explaining the various issues before the country, my opponent's backers have been reciting by rote the phrases and philosophies of straight-jacket voting."

"I have been heartened by the genuine interest I have found all over the district in the problems we face and the solutions I have proposed," Bartlett told the group.

He said that the terms "liberty," "freedom" and "victory" have been described as outdated and should be replaced with such phrases and spineless actions as "peaceful co-existence," "accommodation" and "one worldism".

In Wind Gap

A group of his supporters in Wind Gap yesterday heard Robert G. (Bob) Bartlett state that "it's high time the consumers got a break," and that the Administration's farm policy was saddling farmers and soaking consumers.

"Look at sugar," Bartlett told the group. He said the U.S. has millions of acres of potential sugar-producing land, yet the New Frontier insists on buying 1.9 million tons of sugar per year on the world market. "The result is that Cuban sugar, being manipulated by Soviet Russia, has come onto the market and the price has been driven from 32 cents to 74 cents for a package at the market," Bartlett said.

He said wheat farmers of the nation rebelled after years of rigid controls, subsidies and storage. "It is not sensible for the government to pay farmers for not growing, to buy what they grow on prescribed acreage, then store it a $1 million a day cost to the taxpayer."

"Every housewife has a stake in getting a sound farm program designed to keep the average American well fed and clothed without double payment," he said. "The present program makes farm crops expensive in the market and the taxpayers' tax funds are used to keep the prices up. This is not horse sense."

He said American farmers suffered a blow when the Common Market "bluffed out our negotiators to slap a 12-cent-a-pound tariff on U.S. chickens. This is an example of what poor trade policy can do. We have lost a $67 million U.S. poultry export industry, plus millions of dollars of business in related industries. Thousands of jobs will be lost. I don't like the idea of trying to buy friendship abroad by creating hardship at home," the GOP candidate declared.

What Goes On?

The Treasury, with great satisfaction, reports that the forecast $9 billion deficit, which originally was to have been a half billion dollar surplus, actually is only a $6 billion deficit.

The impression is left, deliberately or not, that the reason for this change is that economies were effected or tax collections improved as we "moved forward." Nevertheless, the Administration still will ask Congress to move the legal debt that limit up to $315 billion—the same figure that was mentioned when a deficit $3 billion larger was anticipated.

Spoilsports suggest that the shrinking of the deficit was more apparent than real, partly because the Government has been busy selling mortgages it owned and putting the money into the Treasury, and partly because it didn't pay some bills promptly.

Arithmetic generally is considered to be a no-nonsense subject which can lead the diligent to conclusions that will stand up, but Washington arithmetic gets more and more confusing.

The other day, Area Redevelopment

Deputy Administrator Harold Williams declared that if the House will go along with the Senate in expanding his agency's credit by $450 million, 36,000 new jobs will be created in Michigan. The money is to be shared by the other states, of course, and the impression is given that unemployment would soon be a thing of the past.

But ARA in its first two years of operation spent a bit less than $140 million, and created fewer jobs in the whole country than the figure now given for Michigan alone. Is Michigan to get $140 million of the $450 million, leaving only $310 million for the other 49 states? Or has ARA so improved that it can make a lot more jobs for a lot less money?

Another numbers puzzle occurred when the State Department announced that by shutting down six consulates in four nations it would greatly improve its service. In that case, will the service be perfect if it closes all consulates?

Perhaps someone should check the answers coming out of Washington computers against an abacus.

The Backward Bear

It looks as if Fidel Castro's government may have to convince the Cuban people that electricity is a bad thing and should not exist in a communist workers' paradise or that maybe it has just gone out of style.

Radio broadcasts from Cuba and reports from refugees indicate that Havana power stations and some of the stations in the interior are sliding into critical disrepair since new parts are no longer available for U. S. made machinery.

Severe power rationing is threatened later this year and the government is appealing to the Cuban people to ration the use of electricity voluntarily as part of the revolutionary struggle. Unless promised new equipment shows up from communist bloc countries, the lights will go out by 1965.

Countries are for people to live in not for bullies to play with. It's time the collectivists came out of the political middle ages and hooked their Bear up to the front end of the wagon.

Washington Opinion

Legislative Program Boggled

Washington — Most of the Kennedy legislative program before Congress is moving with extreme slowness toward an uncertain future.

The obvious conclusion to draw from this situation — almost seven months after Congress convened — is that there is less than universal enthusiasm for the Kennedy proposals.

Most of the proposals are opposed on the ground that they (1) boost federal expenditures, which already are at a dangerous peak; (2) centralize additional power in the federal government, at the expense of the states and of the people; or (3) impose unnecessary restrictions upon business operation, instead of encouraging job-creating expansion.

The liberals are becoming highly critical of Congress for its refusal to rubber-stamp the Kennedy program, and some of them are accusing the President of being remiss in not bringing greater pressure upon members in an effort to force them to bow to his will.

For example, Sen. Clark (D-Penn.) complained to his colleagues that Mr. Kennedy had recommended 102 measures since Jan. 9 but that only 14 had been enacted — and "it would be difficult to find one that could be categorized as a major legislative achievement."

Furthermore, he agreed with a statement by Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) that "many of the 14" were watered down, unfortunately, so that, as a result of the coalition that controls the Congress, the President did not get very much of what he asked for out of the measures which were passed.

"It is a fair conclusion," Sen. Clark added, "that well over 70 percent of the President's program has not reached the calendar, and that among measures which have not reached the calendar are some of the most important which the President has recommended."

Moreover, he continued, "a candid look at the future can engender nothing but gloom."

The session, however, has some months to go and there is always the possibility that the President might find a way — with the vast power at his disposal — to persuade more members of Congress to support the New Frontier philosophy.

Although many measures are awaiting congressional action, major activity (aside from what develops from the railway labor dispute) now centers around tax and civil rights legislation.

The House Ways and Means Committee is proceeding slowly with its consideration of tax reduction and reform proposals, and indications are that House floor action cannot be expected before mid-August.

The White House has emphasized to congressional leaders that the top legislative priority item for 1963 is the tax bill, to become effective on Jan. 1, 1964.

Many legislators are fearful that — in the event of a prolonged Senate filibuster over civil rights — it may be very close to Jan. 1 before the session ends.

FISCAL AFFAIRS

Washington — New storm signals are being hoisted in Congress as the government starts a new fiscal year and begins piling up its 28th deficit in 34 years.

Pointing out that "we are spending money at a more rapid rate than ever before," Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee told his colleagues that "we have to quit authorizing new projects and expanding old programs and begin paying for the old projects for which we owe . . . in order to help our credit."

"The final responsibility is right here in Congress," he asserted.

sorted, even though every branch advocates new activities and new spending."

Rep. Curtis (R-Mo.) warned that "continuing to vote more money than we have the ability to raise is creating serious damage to this country and is going to put us in a position where, I regret to say, we will be a second-rate power in the world."

Rep. Jensen (R-Iowa) reminded that each American family, on an average, must pay about $15 a month just for interest on the national debt . . . about $25 a month just for salaries of federal employees . . . and about $75 a month for the Department of Defense — a total of $115 every month for these three items.

Sen. Thurmond (D-S.C.) maintained that "the people must engage in more 'self-help' at the local level rather than 'help yourself' at the federal trough, if lost liberties are to be retrieved and still existent liberties preserved."

Other members of the congressional economy bloc continue to urge substantial cuts in the $106,804,000,000 new spending authority requested by President Kennedy for the 1964 fiscal year (which started on July 1).

Thus far, this amount has been trimmed by slightly more than $3 billion — considerably less than had been hoped for by economy advocates.

Final action has been taken on only one appropriation bill — the Treasury and Post Office measure — which was cut by $101,376,000 to a total of $6,043,466,000. Five appropriation bills are yet to be reported to the House.

But, while some reductions are being made in the amount requested by the Administration, the total voted thus far is larger than the appropriations for the previous fiscal year.

This means, in the words of Rep. Cannon, that "the Treasury has to go out and borrow from future generations to meet the higher and higher expenditures."

"It is becoming almost characteristic," he added, "that the more money the Treasury takes in the more it spends."

Further deficits are flatly predicted by Administration spokesmen for at least three more years, including the present one — and in the meantime the national debt is soaring toward the unprecedented $156 billion forecast for the end of the 1964 fiscal year; the value of the dollar (which was 100 cents in 1933) has plummeted to 45 cents; and the international imbalance of payments becomes more critical by the hour.

Text Of Partial Test Ban

Following is the communique made public by the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union and the text of the proposed treaty for a partial ban on nuclear tests:

Communique

The special representatives of the President of the United States of America and of the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, W. Averell Harriman, Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs of the United States, and Lord Hailsham, Lord President of the Council and Minister of Science for the United Kingdom, visited Moscow together with their advisers on July 14. Mr. Harriman and Lord Hailsham were received by the chairman of the Council of Ministers of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, N. S. Khrushchev, who presided on July 15 at the first of a series of meetings to discuss questions relating to the discontinuance of nuclear tests, and other questions of mutual interest. The discussions were continued from July 16 to July 25 with A. A. Gromyko, Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. During these discussions each principal was assisted by his advisers.

The discussions took place in a businesslike, cordial atmosphere. Agreement was reached on the text of a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere, in outer space and under water. This text is being published separately and simultaneously with this communique. It was initiated on July 25 by A. A. Gromyko, Mr. Harriman and Lord Hailsham together with their advisers to reach Moscow shortly to report and bring back the initial text to their respective Governments. Signature of the treaty is expected to take place in the near future in Moscow.

The White House announced that the treaty would be signed next week by the foreign ministers of the three nations. The heads of the three delegations agreed that the test ban treaty constituted an important first step toward the reduction of international tension and the strengthening of peace, and they look forward to further progress in this direction.

The heads of the three delegations discussed the Soviet proposal relating to a pact of non-aggression between the participants in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the participants in the Warsaw Treaty. The three governments have agreed fully to inform their respective allies in the two organizations concerning these talks and to consult with them about continuing discussions on this question with the purpose of achieving agreement satisfactory to all participants. A brief exchange of views also took place with regard to other measures, directed at a relaxation of tension.

TREATY

TREATY BANNING NUCLEAR WEAPON TESTS IN ATMOSPHERE, IN OUTER SPACE AND UNDER WATER.

Preamble

The governments of the United States of America, the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, hereinafter referred to as the "original parties,"

Proclaiming as their principal aim the speediest possible achievement of an agreement on general and complete disarmament under strict international control in accordance with the objectives of the United Nations, which would put an end to the armaments race and eliminate the incentive to the production and testing of all kinds of weapons, including nuclear weapons,

Seeking to achieve the discontinuance of all test explosions of nuclear weapons for all time, determined to continue negotiations to this end, and desiring to put an end to the contamination of man's environment by radioactive substances,

Have agreed as follows:

Article I

1. Each of the parties to this treaty undertakes to prohibit, to prevent, and not to carry out any other nuclear explosion at any place under its jurisdiction or control:

A. In the atmosphere, beyond its limits, including outer space, or underwater, including territorial waters or high seas; or

B. In any other environment, if such explosion causes radioactive debris to be present outside the territorial limit of the state under whose jurisdiction or connection that the provisions of this subparagraph are without prejudice to the conclusion of a treaty resulting in the permanent banning of all nuclear test explosions, including all such explosions underground, the conclusions of which, as the parties have stated in the preamble to this treaty, they seek to achieve.

2. Each of the parties to this Treaty undertakes furthermore to refrain from causing, encouraging, or in any way participating in, the carrying out of any nuclear weapon test explosion, or any other nuclear explosion, anywhere which would take place in any of the environments described, or have the effect referred to in Paragraph 1 of this article.

Article II

1. Any party may propose amendments to this Treaty. The text of any proposed amendment shall be submitted to the depositary governments which shall circulate it to all parties to this Treaty. Thereafter, if requested to do so by one-third or more of the parties, the depositary governments shall convene a conference, to which they shall invite all the parties, to consider such amendment.

2. Any amendment to this Treaty must be approved by a majority of the votes of all parties to this Treaty, including the votes of all of the original parties. The amendment shall enter into force, for all parties upon the deposit of instruments of ratification by a majority of all the parties, including the instruments of ratification of all of the original parties.

Article III

1. This Treaty shall be open to all states for signature. Any state which does not sign this Treaty before its entry into force in accordance with Paragraph 3 of this article may accede to it at any time.

2. This Treaty shall be subject to ratification by signatory States. Instruments of ratification and instruments of accession shall be deposited with the governments of the original parties — the United States of America, the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics — which are hereby designated the depositary governments.

3. This Treaty shall enter into force after its ratification by all the original Parties and the deposit of their instruments of ratification.

4. For States whose instruments of ratification or accession are deposited subsequent to the entry into force of this Treaty, it shall enter into force on the date of the deposit of their instruments of ratification or accession.

5. The depositary governments shall promptly inform all signatory and acceding states of the date of each signature, the date of deposit of each instrument of ratification and of accession to this Treaty, the date of its entry into force, and the date of receipt of any requests for conferences or other notices.

6. This Treaty shall be registered by the depositary governments pursuant to Article 102 of the Charter of the United Nations.

Article IV

This Treaty shall be of unlimited duration.

Each Party shall in exercising its national sovereignty have the right to withdraw from the treaty if it decides that extraordinary events, related to the subject matter of this Treaty, have jeopardized the supreme interests of its country. It shall give notice of such withdrawal to all other Parties to the Treaty three months in advance.

Article V

This Treaty, of which the English and Russian texts are equally authentic, shall be deposited in the archives of the depositary governments. Duly certified copies of this Treaty shall be transmitted by the depositary governments to the governments of the signatory and acceding states.

In witness whereof the undersigned, duly authorized, have signed this Treaty.

Done in triplicate at Moscow, this — day of —, one thousand nine hundred and sixty-three.

Calling All Travelers!

DEAR ABBY: Please give the gas station folks a break and ask the vacationing public to have mercy on us. They drive up, grab a hose and rinse off their cars. It doesn't bother them that they make a mess for others to walk through. They want their windshields cleaned, but don't need gas. And they've bought their oil by the case somewhere else. They even ask to borrow your tools. They pile out in droves to use the restroom. Sometimes they spend half an hour in there—changing clothes. Our regular customers can't get in for the free loaders. In a nice clean business like a liquor store, the customer spends more in 30 seconds than he does at a service station for a 500-mile trip. And the clerk doesn't have to clean windshields, check lighter fluid or anything. The customer doesn't expect the right change and a paper bag to put the bottle in. He even gets oiled on his own time and off the premises. Thanks a lot.

"LEFTY"

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl who needs help desperately. I consider myself lucky because I have a nice family and we have everything we need. My big problem (and please don't laugh) is that I have a mustache. Boys are always telling me I need "a shave". Even some of my girl friends have tried to tell me in a nice way that I'd be pretty if I got rid of that mustache. I don't want to shave it off and I'm afraid to use some of the stuff I see advertised because I've heard it could leave my upper lip rough like a man's beard, or maybe it would leave scars. Can you help me?

Highway Hypnosis, Conservation, Tocks Island and Krebiozen

Comments On 'Highway Hypnosis'

Editor, The Daily Record:

Having been involved in an accident on Route 209 last summer which made the front page of The Record and damaged my car beyond repair, and caused me and my passenger to spend months under the care of a doctor for the results of the shock and concussion we suffered, I was much interested in the editorial this morning on "highway hypnosis."

Since the shocking accidents this summer have not been on turnpikes or superhighways, I doubt that "highway hypnosis" has been the offender in this immediate vicinity. Excessive speed, tail-gating and unfamiliarity with our type of roads seem to be the reasons.

I think "turnpike psychology" is to blame. Our visitors, whether for business or pleasure, are accustomed to driving on superhighways, straight, four or more lanes, limited access, well posted for danger spots ahead. In all the Potomac area we have hundreds of miles of winding, hilly roads, two lanes or less, with innumerable entrances to resorts, restaurants and private homes, that are merely country lanes, but are most active in the summer season.

In many sections 50 miles an hour is too fast, but that is the universally accepted speed limit, unless otherwise posted, and many people drive much faster when they find one of our rare straight stretches of highway of a mile or less.

In New England they post curving and hilly stretches at 30-35-40 miles an hour. It could be done here. Also, there could be warning signs, well ahead, and large enough to be readable.

"Slow: Dangerous Intersection" near the entrance to every resort, restaurant and filling station, where cars may make turns in or out.

In spite of my effort to make a constructive suggestion, I do not know how speed limits can be enforced with our limited number of State Police to patrol all this maze of roads! One can drive all day and never see a police car. Perhaps we should scream to Harrisburg that with this summer's horrifying number of fatal accidents, with the vacation season only half over, to give us more policemen!

Considering the beauty of our countryside, I don't understand why the summer visitors want to rush through it so fast! Aren't they supposed to be on vacation to relax?

Thanks For Krebiozen Data

Editor, The Daily Record

To many cancer patients, Krebiozen, the non-toxic cancer therapy, is just as essential for continued life as insulin is to a diabetic. I am one of these cancer patients. There are others in our area.

Under the latest ruling of the Food and Drug Administration, we will not be able to receive Krebiozen when our present supply is exhausted. Some of us have little more than a week's supply. Our situation is extremely critical.

Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, who has long sought a fair test for Krebiozen, has now introduced a Resolution in the Senate to keep Krebiozen available to cancer patients until a fair test is performed by the National Cancer Institute, Congressman Pike of Suffolk County, New York, has introduced a similar Resolution in the House. Physicians, who have found Krebiozen useful in advanced cancer and patients who are on Krebiozen are asked to write IMMEDIATELY to Senator Douglas informing him of their support of his Resolution.

Also all persons who are interested in seeing Krebiozen fairly tested and made available to patients who are on it, should telegraph or telephone their Senators and Congressmen to support Senator Douglas in this Resolution.

Defends Rail Unions' Stand

Editor, The Daily Record:

I read with interest your editorial of July 20, 1963 regarding the railroad dispute. Sorry to say there are many facts that you are not aware of. Let me for the record cite a few for you:

No time and one-half after 8 hours in passenger service. No time and one-half on Sundays and legal holidays. No time and one-half on 6 and 7 day week. No time and one-half period. Average work week 60 to 65 hours.

No fringe benefits such as hospitalization. No "Away from home" pay some lay-overs as long as 16 hours. Present wage scale average about $2.40 per hour — Railroad work rules to reduce this to $1.06 per hour. There were no vacations until the Roosevelt administration ordered it. No increase in salary in the last 4 years. Railroads are closing all stations thus putting selling of tickets and other station work on the train crews at a considerable saving to railroad.

Freight service has poor sanitary conditions, delapidated bunk rooms, cabooses that are not fit to ride in. One crew now pulls and handles a train that required two or three crews when there were steam engines, thus reducing the crews to at least one-half to one-third in number.

These are just a few of the facts that you failed to look into. This dispute has been going on for four years and the total time spent by the railroad in conference with the union has been three hours or less in direct negotiations. Is this Collective Bargaining? Railroad campaign by high pressure Madison Avenue concerns.

Supervision on the American railroad is the same now or perhaps more — no reduction there, but with less than one-half the men working in railroad service.

Now, if the railroad man is such a valuable employee to the nation, why hasn't someone done something for him throughout the years. He is out in all types of weather. Christmas and holidays are just another working day. He does not have long weekends as in other industries. Will the Record print a paid page stating the facts of the Union and let us tell our side or is the Record like so many other newspapers catering to the Association of American Railroads. You, Mr. Editor can disprove my thought by printing this.

Time at the present does not permit me to go into all the facts, but you can rest assured that I will be writing to you at my first chance.

Point Cleared Up

Editor, The Daily Record:

The learned gentlemen from California informed that I stated that the dam would stop droughts. I stated that it would store up wasted waters flowing into the ocean.

We do not have the high mountains like they have in the West to store up heavy snows. Wonder if he has seen the Glenn Canyon Dam?

Another gentleman (no address) wanted proof of lower taxes here than in New Jersey and New York. The only proof I have is from buyers who were amazed at the difference.

Also its very probable that the Homesteaders above the Hoover Dam thought their homes very valuable.

It's regrettable that it was not started 50 years ago.

Union Head Claims Demo Sticker On Payrow's Car

BETHLEHEM—“The fraudulent nature of the Republican campaign in the 15th Congressional District is perfectly illustrated by the following example,” Joseph Hovanick, President of Local 2600, United Steelworkers said today.

Hovanick issued this detailed account:

“For some time now people have been asking me about a Willys Phantom automobile with the Pennsylvania license number 774-15K which bore on its bumper a gaudy sticker saying: ‘Another Democrat’ for the Republican candidate.

“After many such inquiries — from irate Democrats, I might add — I checked with the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue, Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

“The Willys Phantom, license number 774-15K is not registered in the name of a Democrat at all.

“It is registered in the name of

H. Gordon Payrow, Jr., R.D. 2, Bethlehem. Payrow now, reportedly, lives on Center Street.

“H. Gordon Payrow, Jr. is the Republican mayor of the City of Bethlehem. He is now running his ex-campaign manager for Congress.

“Those Republicans who voted for Payrow in the last mayoralty election will no doubt be delighted that he now considers himself a Democrat since he has failed completely to live up to any of those hollow promises he made during his campaign.

“It seems fitting that the license number should be on a Willys ‘Phantom.’ That means there are two ‘phantoms’ in this campaign — the automobile and the Republican candidate.”

Older Workers Gets Jobs

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG — Older workers in the Stroudsburg area last month secured 29.2 per cent of the area job placements, the State Department of Labor and Industry said today.

Employment records of the department show that 487 area persons were placed during June of which number 142 were in the “older worker” classification — those over 45 years of age.

Of the 142 older workers placed, eight were in the “65 and over” category, or 1.6 per cent of the total area placements.

All placements, the department said, were in nonagricultural fields.

The State Bureau of Employment Security added that 971 new applications were filed with the bureau during the past month. One hundred fifty-nine of these applications (16.4 per cent) were filed by persons 45 and over. Of this number 11, or 1.1 per cent, came from persons 65 and over.

Commissioners Plan Well For Proposed CD Shelter

STROUDSBURG — A proposal for the drilling of a well for the purpose of supplying water to the planned civil defense shelter in the Monroe County Courthouse was discussed at Thursday's meeting of the Monroe County Commissioners.

The well would supply 30 gallons of water per minute to the basement shelter.

The specifications of the well include that it would be at least 100 ft. deep, that steel casing be used in the construction, and that the entire project would be subject to examination by the Rinker, Kiefer and Rake, the architects in charge of the shelter project.

Tests would be made by the architects when the well reached 100 ft. deep, to determine whether or not further drilling would be justified.

"BOB" BARTLETT TO CONGRESS
JULY 30

LET YOUR VOICE BE HEARD IN WASHINGTON

BARTLETT TO CONGRESS COMMITTEE
V. J. Pazzetti, Chairman; Holmes S. Seaman, Treasurer

Let's SET the record STRAIGHT!

ABOUT OUTSIDE INTERFERENCE

BOB BARTLETT is tied to no one's apron strings, is under obligation to no political machine.

HIS OPPONENT'S campaign has been taken over lock, stock and barrel by a high-paid squad of outside interests, imported from New York, Philadelphia and California — "pressure artists" who have fat expense accounts . . . who know nothing whatsoever about the needs and wants of the people of the 15th District . . . who need a road map to get around as they enforce their callous attempts to intimidate the rank and file laboring men and women in our plants and factories. Paid agents, pouring thousands upon thousands of dollars into this power grab, have lifted management of the opposition campaign right out of the hands of local people. THESE OUTSIDERS ARE CALLING THE SIGNALS!

ABOUT COMMUNIST CODDLING

BOB BARTLETT is strongly against Communist "coddling" and appeasement. He believes the free world's battle against atheistic Communism allows absolutely no quarter for "softness." He favors a firmer policy toward Castro's Cuba, where the Soviet Union continues to maintain threatening military installations in violation of their solemn promise made less than a year ago. He points to the fact that Russia has broken 50 out of 53 agreements made with the U. S. in recent times—and the Communists are still on the move in Laos, South Vietnam, Latin America, and Africa.

HIS OPPONENT in a public debate went on record in favor of "co-existence."

ABOUT FULL EMPLOYMENT

BOB BARTLETT is concerned that unemployment continues to be a chronic problem plaguing too many people in our 15th Congressional District. He is convinced that the Federal government has neglected this area because political expediencies and pressures have been the rule of thumb. He advocates "More action and less talk" about defense contracts and the 5.9 per cent national unemployment rate. He favors more attention to local problems. He wants workers retrained.

HIS OPPONENT proposes the same tired line of unfulfilled promises to the area's unemployed—promises never kept.

ABOUT POLITICAL BOSSISM

BOB BARTLETT was chosen as the nominee for Congress at an open meeting of delegates from all four counties.

HIS OPPONENT was picked in a closed room session in Harrisburg, the personal choice of Philadelphia Boss Bill Green. The press was barred from the meeting, and secrecy surrounded the entire proceedings. By pressure and proxy, the right of choice was denied rank and file Democrats in the 15th District. The opposition candidate is Bill Green's boy. Do the people of these four counties want a "rubber stamp" to represent them in Washington? Do they want this District to have a man in political debt to Bill Green? Or do they want a man like Bob Bartlett, who reserves the right to think for himself without prejudice . . . who is not a "boss dictated" candidate . . . who wears no man's collar . . . who stands for independent judgment and will act in the best interests of ALL the people of the District.

ABOUT NEW INDUSTRY

BOB BARTLETT says that new industry is a "must" for the four counties of Carbon, Monroe, Northampton and Pike—and that the answer to this challenge rests with a revitalizing of the national economy and a restoration of confidence. He believes the Federal government has done little or nothing to help the 15th District, while funneling millions of dollars into places like Boston, Texas and California. And he favors realistic Area Redevelopment legislation that doesn't discriminate against this area.

HIS OPPONENT sticks to the spotty "let them wait" policies of the present administration, which have meant high taxes and no real help for our District.

ABOUT RECREATION

BOB BARTLETT has come out strongly in favor of the Tocks Island project which will mean so much to the future of everyone in the 15th District. He is fully committed to throw all his energies into activating this recreational area, which was nurtured by the late Congressman Walter. However, he is on record as saying that careful planning of Tocks Island is a "must" to safeguard the interests of sportsmen, especially fishermen.

HIS OPPONENT is not interested in the sportsmen's point of view on Tocks Island. And Sportsmen's Clubs throughout the District oppose Rooney because of a voting record consistently against sportsmen's interests.

ABOUT BIG SPENDING

BOB BARTLETT believes that by taking a hard look at the Federal government's spending policies, the tax burden of each citizen can be significantly reduced. He favors a reexamination of excesses in foreign aid outflow; building a $600 million steel mill in India, for example with U. S. tax dollars is a flagrant example of how our working people and the American economy are penalized. He is for cutting wasteful spending for non-essential frills and applying the savings to better housing, education, a lower debt, and other desirable goals.

HIS OPPONENT is all out for "big spending."

ABOUT THE COST OF LIVING

BOB BARTLETT believes that stifling taxation and deficit spending constitute a serious threat to our freedoms and our ability to grow and prosper. Inflation robs every working man and woman, retired citizens and the housewife of dollars needed to insure individual well-being and security. Bob Bartlett, family man, father of 5 children, knows well the problems of the wage earner today. He is hard-hitting, hard-working . . . sensitive to the simple, day-to-day problems of the people. He is a man of modest means himself. He will fight in Washington for prosperity, and sensible policies that will hold down—not inflate—the cost of living.

HIS OPPONENT is committed to a continuation of the wasteful spending policies that take money out of YOUR pocket.

ABOUT THE LIQUOR INTERESTS

BOB BARTLETT believes that the people of the 15th District are entitled to immediate representation in this session of Congress and shouldn't have to be without franchise in the important months ahead.

HIS OPPONENT is being publicly supported by the liquor interests of this state, who over the signature of Herman Mihalich, president of the Pennsylvania Tavern Association, endorses Bob's opponent in these words: "He has always voted in accordance with the wishes and needs of the tavern owners of his district and of Pennsylvania." The liquor interests say no special election should have been held. They are more concerned with their own self-interest than with the people's right to have a voice heard in Washington.

Just Between Us—

by Bobby Westbrook

Even if it's only four feet wide, a 60 foot long banner should be easy to spot, but Sally Ferber's host one. It's last year's banner announcing the Antiques Show and she was trying to locate it to point in this year's dates, Aug. 7 on.

When last seen it was stored at the Stroudsburg Municipal Building. None of the current political banners bear evidence of repainting, so the assumption is that it has merely been mislaid. Only other suggested uses have been as a backyard water slide or an overgrown tennis net. Sally doesn't mind who has it if they'll just lend it back again long enough to advertise the show.

Speaking of banners — the banner headlines in the afternoon papers brought me up with a jolt. "Quake Shatters Yugoslavians City" might have escaped my eye, no matter how big the letters, if it weren't that my sister and her husband and Robin are in Belgrade, and might conceivably be visiting the hinterlands, and that Bethany Dening is now on a student tour which is either in or soon will be in Yugoslavia.

The heart quickens the eye in a remarkable manner. For a reader, for instance, his own name will jump out at him from a list of perhaps a hundred guests, and a mother watching at a swimming pool can spot the scalding head of her own offspring out of 50 that look just alike to a non-partisan observer.

Even when they are reading the same words, different readers read different meanings into them, depending on their own emotional climate. This is particularly true of political campaign stories, of which we have had aplenty. The real test of unbiased reporting, it seems, is to be accused by both sides of favoring the other.

Today's day, however, when politics, lost banners, and headlines will be temporarily shelved by newspaper and radio people alike in favor of the ONR annual Christmas party — well, that's what it used to be and still goes by that name although anybody that turns up at the clam bake singing Jingle Bells this weather is liable to get lynched.

Old-Timers Honored At GOP Rally

Stroudsburg — There was no discrimination in honoring the old-timers who could be located by the Republican rally committee at the Old-Time Soap Box Rally held at the Stroudsburg Playground.

Depending on their party registration, onyx elephants or donkeys were presented by Jack Mullins, general chairman, to the ten oldest registered voters: Samuel Strunk, Minisink Hills, and Leo Sutton, Delaware Water Gap, both 83; Mrs. Mae Kerr, 600 Thomas St., Stroudsburg, and William Keller, Kunkelstown, both 92; Samuel Michael, East Stroudsburg RD 2, 91 and his wife, Mrs. Michael, 81.

Mrs. Bertha Wiley, 81 Brown St., East Stroudsburg, 84; Mrs. Jessie Davis, 41 North Courtland St., 87; Emma Gould, Effort, 86; Mrs. Antonia Delager, Stroudsburg, RD 1, 83; Mrs. Minnie Numan of 120 East Broad St., East Stroudsburg, 83; Harry Garria, Coates Meadow, 85.

Robert Bartlett, Republican candidate in next Tuesday's election of a Congressman for the 15th District, paid tribute to the oldest voters in his talk stressing the need to seek out and retain those last good qualities of a bygone period when drawing up present and future plans.

However the "old-time soap box" proved inadequate for the Bartlett family at the rally. Since Mrs. Bartlett and four of their five children shared the rostrum with the candidate, and the top of a pickup truck had to serve instead.

The rally was preceded by a parade of more than 100 cars, headed by antique cars in which eight of the ten elderly guests rode, all of them recalling when the antiques were the latest models: 1909 Maxwell owned by John Hart; a 1915 Saxon in which Mrs. Bartlett rode, owned and driven by Samantha Platt; Carl Rustine's 1913 Ford Touring car in which Bartlett rode; Dr. Evan Reese's 1921 Wills St. Clair; Richard Weaver's 1924 Model T Ford Touring Car; Charles DeHaven's 1923 Model T Roadster; a 1928 Packard, driven by Andrew Koser; a 1929 Ford pickup owned by Fred Arrabato and a 1931 Ford Convertible, belonging to Frank Buck.

THE

'ROUND AND ABOUT WYCKOFF'S—

Just a few moments ago I found myself walking through our center aisle behind a youngster who was leading a dignified gentleman around the various counters, pointing out innumerable items that interested him. "There's certainly a lot of nice things to see in this store, aren't there?" the man commented, "but what do you say we find your mother and have something to eat in the Tea Room?" Of late, I've noticed that when a child is intent upon "shopping," an adult usually resorts to food as a means of diverting him. The idea might work in reverse with an adult—a woman, at least. Any woman would gladly forego her lunch, I am sure, if her husband were to say, "Let's not eat today, dear—let's buy you something instead."

You know, this would be the perfect way to handle a woman who just can't seem to stick with her diet!

This being Saturday, the Nazis will be leaving sometime this afternoon. I hate to see them go, and for a few days it will be difficult to adjust to a Jewelry Department bare of their hundreds of dazzling rings.

The Nazis always find a ready reception here with our Wyckoff customers, and countless men, as well as women and children, have been in the past few days to study their gigantic ring display and make selections. One woman who lost her wedding band tells me she plans to replace it with one set with simulated diamonds. And, of course, now one can afford to buy the dinner, cocktail, and "pinky" rings that look elegant but are really very inexpensive. One of my favorites in this year's collection is of smoky topaz in sterling silver setting. Prices begin at 2.50 and go only to 14.95. See them today (your last opportunity for a while) before Pat and Joe pack them up and leave us once again.

This is how it works: with each purchase of Rubinstein's Fashion Stick at 1.50 you receive Nail Fashion FREE; with Pasteurized Face Cream Special at 1.75, the gift is Herbal Skin Lotion. "Headliner" is the gift with the 2.00 2-Speed Home Permanent, and with Super Finish Nudit, at 1.50, Roll Dry, Perfume Spray Deodorant, or Bioderant, the gift is either Skin Dew or Heaven Sent Bath Powder. Water Lily Pore Lotion comes free with either Beauty Washing Grains, or Bio-Clear Medicated Cream; Heaven Sent Bath Powder comes with a 2.00 Heaven Sent Eau de Parfum; Skin Dew is the gift with Deep Cleanser, and Eye Cream Special is the Contour Lift Film bonus.

Rules For Freezing Vegetables Not Necessarily Good For Grandparents

By Linda Pipher
Daily Record Home Economist

Recently I read an article about the discovery of a diary written a couple of centuries ago which shed light on the life of a clan of mountain people in northern New England. The families lived off the land and were isolated from other civilization. In order to exist, all generations were required to work, regardless of age. Although the elderly were needed during farming months, they were a burden during the harsh winters.

When cold weather began, the oldest people were given a drink of herbs which produced a heavy, deep sleep. Then they were carried to a designated spot where they were covered in icy water and quick frozen. After a winter when the elderly were entombed in ice, the families gathered together at the first sign of the Spring thaw, went to the hills, and greeted the old people, bringing them back to help farm the land. The freezing supposedly helped lengthen their life span, and therefore they were of more "use."

Now I am not recommending that you freeze your grandparents, but I am suggesting that freezing also preserves fruits and vegetables so that you can enjoy summertime flavor in the winter. If this will be your first experience in freezing, there are a few general rules to follow.

General Freezing Rules

1. Freeze fruits and vegetables in season at height of maturity. Don't waste time and freezer space by freezing vegetables that are available year round, such as carrots and beets.
2. Freeze only perfect fruits and vegetables. Freezing does not improve flavor and what you take out can only be as good as what you put in.
3. Freeze as quickly as possible after picking; within two hours is best. If this is not possible, store in refrigerator, but not longer than eight hours.
4. Wash (unless otherwise directed) and sort carefully. Peel if needed, trim, and cut to desired size.
5. Use good packaging materials that will keep the foods air tight to prevent loss of color and flavor. Although more expensive, reusable cartons are more economical in the long run for they can be re-used for years. Polyethylene bags, freezer jars, aluminum and plastic freezer containers are a few examples of reusable materials. Waxed paper, and paper bags should not be used for they are not moisture and vapor proof.

6. Do not overfill containers; allow at least 1/2 inch air space for expansion. Be sure containers are tightly shut; use freezer tape around carton if necessary.

7. Label all containers; you think you'll remember, but you won't. It's a shock if you thought you were defrosting peaches, and find thawed yellow beans instead!

Most fruits are frozen with sugar, in either of two ways. Dry pack means that you mix sugar and fruit, then pack. Syrup pack means boiling a sugar and water solution, cooling it, and then mixing with fruit. Either way is satisfactory, though I prefer dry pack as it seems easier and faster.

Preventing Discoloration

Some fruits, such as peaches, discolor when exposed to air after cutting. To prevent this, ascorbic acid or an ascorbic acid mixture must be added.

Ascorbic acid, available at drug stores, is actually Vitamin C. It can be purchased in crystalline, powdered form, or in tablets; I have always used the powdered form. For dry pack, dissolve 1/4 teaspoon ascorbic acid in 2 tablespoons of water and sprinkle over 1 quart of fruit before adding sugar. For syrup pack, add 1/4 teaspoon to each quart of chilled syrup, just before adding to fruit. Remember that fruit must be immersed in syrup (or juice resulting from mixing sugar and fruit) when put in container. Crumbled waxed or parchment paper on top of fruit in container will help keep fruit immersed. If using a commercially prepared ascorbic-citric acid mixture, follow directions on bottle.

Blanching and Cooling Vegetables
It is absolutely necessary to blanch and cool vegetables properly for best results. Blanching means immersing vegetables in boiling water for a short time; this kills enzymes which if not destroyed will impair color and flavor. The time of steaming varies according to the vegetable, from 1 to 4 minutes. I use my deep fat fryer because it has a basket, but you can use a colander in a large bottle.

Put no more than one pound of vegetables in basket, immerse in water that is boiling rapidly, and begin counting time immediately; don't wait until it boils again. The same water can be re-used, but be sure it comes back to a rolling boil before immersing the next batch of vegetables.

Cooling is as important as the blanching. Cold water from the tap is not satisfactory; it must be ice water. If you can't freeze enough ice cubes ahead, it is well worth buying a 25 or 50 lb. bag of cubes, for you won't have the good flavor of vegetables preserved if they are not cooled quickly.

Because the success of your freezing depend on quick handling from the time of picking, cleaning, blanching, and cooling, don't make the mistake of trying to do too much at one time. If you can enlist the help of your family, you're in luck, for an assembly line set up speeds the process.

Because of limited space, I cannot give specific directions for all fruits and vegetables, but there are many good pamphlets and books available on freezing. It's well worth the time and effort to freeze, for you'll be mighty proud next winter to serve your own frozen products. Also it certainly helps stretch the food budget, not to mention the convenience of having your own food bank.

Put no more than one pound of vegetables in basket, immerse in water that is boiling rapidly, and begin counting time immediately; don't wait until it boils again. The same water can be re-used, but be sure it comes back

Sunday School For Caddies On the Course

Louisville (AP) — Every Sunday morning, the golfers at Louisville Country Club have to wait 20 minutes for a caddy, but they don't object.

The caddies are attending their own Sunday school, held on a cool green near the pro shop and conducted by John Bernie Alves, an advertising executive.

Alves, who pioneered the project 10 years ago, uses chalk drawings to illustrate his points. Bibles or Testaments are read and the caddies and they read and pray.

When winter closes in, and the sessions end, the caddies keep the Bibles.

Love Seats, Trundle Beds And TV Props

Love seats have returned to the forefront of furniture fashions in the 1963 fall showings of major lines. They appear in every style from avant garde modern to tufted Victorian and often are sold as the companion piece to a matching sofa. The majority are upholstered in latex foam which is sometimes wrapped in down or dacron for a high crowned pouffy profile.

The oldtime trundle bed has gone high fashion. One new model shown at the Chicago International Furniture Market features a floor-hugging oiled walnut platform base topped by a foam rubber mattress cushion covered in a leopard skin fabric.

A low square table fits over the center of the couch flanked by two round bolsters. With the table in place, the unit makes a decorative accent piece seating two, Oriental style. When the table and bolsters are removed, the trundle becomes a guest bed.

The 1963 sofa beds are growing up. Some models unfold to king-size double beds. Others have a special device to prop up the top of the mattress for late night TV viewing.

Dior Dames May Come Out on Top

By Lucie Noel

PARIS (AP) — Daring accentuation of milady's bosom by Dior was a spicy surprise Thursday at Paris' high couture showings.

The new bosom line—high and bulging—was designed by Dior's Marc Bohan for cocktail and evening wear. For daytime, Bohan was more conventional with necklines.

Hemlines were left unchanged at knee level for day wear.

Bohan's new look for bosoms dropped the necklines to daring levels. Bosoms bulged seductively.

The waist for cocktail and evening wear was marked just below the rounded, strapped bosoms which in many creations almost emerged from bodices.

The high waist produced an elongated torso in the shift and chemise creations for evening wear.

For daytime, Dior told a restrained stunning story in tweeds and oversize checked plaids, Clas-

Space Fancy Is Meteorite

CHARLTON, England (AP) — The British army regrettably killed off a popular space fancy yesterday. That hole in farmer Roy Blanchard's potato field was blasted by a meteorite.

The eight-foot crater was found 10 days ago and prompted an eager flood of speculation that a flying saucer had crashed landed in the drowsy English countryside.

"With a tinge of regret we announce that the mysterious hole in the ground at Charlton has yielded nothing more dramatic than a half-pound lump of matter which appears to be a meteorite. It is being sent to the British Museum for investigation.

Secret Satellite Revealed By AF

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force disclosed yesterday that it has a hitherto secret satellite in orbit to collect data of radiation in space.

It was launched from another satellite more than three weeks ago.

The parent satellite, sent up from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., into polar orbit June 27, appeared similar to the Discoverer series about which the military has said little.

The pluggy-back satellite, with an instrument payload of about 50 pounds, was released from the carrier satellite July 1 by electronic signal.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — An unusual period in that you may find it easier to accomplish in the difficult than in ordinary matters. And what you thought would annoy, may be mildly amusing. Stress that good humor.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Emphasize your innate understanding and tolerance of others, and clear thinking. Thus you can make this a creditable day, bringing ease of achievement, respect, and the foundation for great things.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Refrain from ostentatious exaggeration. Choose exercise, attachments, outside interests carefully. Display your gift of leadership, but do not be dominating.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Avoid tendencies toward oversteering, thoughtless actions. From your efforts, serious action, otherwise will depend your attainment. How do you do it? — Leo.

Rooney Says Foe Driving Supporters Away From Him

BETHLEHEM — "The complete refusal of the Republican candidate to stick to the issues in this vital Congressional election has driven hundreds of his original supporters away from him," State Senator Fred Rooney said yesterday.

"Most important of all, his vindictive personal attacks on me and his feeble attempts to label me as a 'boss' candidate are the desperate attempts of a man who knows nothing about this district to hide his own complete lack of understanding of our people and their problems," Rooney said, at a coffee hour at the home of E. D. Ames, 2005 Linden Street, Bethlehem.

"The Republicans would like us to believe that the New York Republican they have chosen to run in this race is a public-spirited young man who likes nothing better than doing some civic duty. Unfortunately, however, there is evidence that his sense of civic responsibility is newly acquired," Rooney said.

"Until he presumed to run for the Congress of the United States, my Republican opponent had one — and only one — effective manner in which to express his much-avowed concern for the people of the 15th District — and that was to cast his ballot in a free election," Rooney said.

"Yet Northampton County records — which are open to the public — show that the Republican candidate (who has only been a resident here since 1958) did not even bother to vote in the most crucial election of his lifetime," Rooney said.

"The Republican candidate is listed as 'not voting' in both the primary election and the general election in 1960," Rooney said.

"That was the year when the American people went to the polls to select not only the leader of our own Nation, but the leader of the entire free world," Rooney said.

"It seems inconceivable to me that any man who has supposedly been so interested in such civic campaigns as the 'get out the vote drive' would pass up an opportunity to vote in one of the most closely-contested elections in American history.

"Voting An Obligation"
"As a lifetime Democrat, whose father insisted that he listen to world news on the radio every night, who was constantly told that the voting privilege is a basic exercise of a free people in a free Nation, I have always considered voting an obligation and a responsibility — not only to myself, but also to my family, my community and my country."

"I cannot understand those who — living in a free society — deliberately throw away one of their most precious gifts.
"If this is the kind of record the Republican Candidate has when all he has to do is vote twice each year, what can the people of the 15th District expect of him when he is forced to make up his mind dozens of times each day on legislation affecting every citizen of the United States?" Rooney asked.

Office-Seeker Cites Service

BUTZTOWN — "If he hopes to serve the people of his own district to the best of his ability, a Congressman must spend as much time among them as he possibly can State Senator Fred Rooney said yesterday.

Speaking informally at the Good Fellow's Clambake in Willow Park, Butztown, Senator Rooney said:

"Since I began serving Northampton County as its State Senator five years ago, it has been my privilege to receive and answer an average of 30,000 letters each year.

"Most of those letters have contained requests of a personal or business nature — requests which required the attention of the man the writer had chosen to serve as his representative in the Pennsylvania Senate.

"Providing that service has been a source of genuine gratification and great honor to me.

"But most of all, I have tried to maintain an office through which people could pass each day without hesitation, knowing that I would be available to them, to listen to them and, if possible, to help them solve their problems.

"If I am elected to Congress in this special election, I give you my solemn pledge that I will spend every available minute of time among the voters of this district, learning their problems, working with them in any way I can.

"This is the kind of Congressman I believe the people of the 15th District want and need — and I earnestly hope that I may live up to the high standards set by the man who held this office for three decades, the late Congressman Walter."

THE ROONEYS: Foreground, Virginia and Marie; seated, Senator Rooney, his mother, Veronica, and his brother, Leo; standing, John, and the children's mother, the former Virginia Price of Allentown.

OLD TIMERS SAY THAT STATE SENATOR FRED ROONEY is much like his father. The senior Rooney, a big, warm hearted man, came into the Lehigh Valley 50 years ago. He had lost a leg in an accident near Scranton. He and his wife, Veronica, settled in South Bethlehem. It was not long before his new neighbors turned to him for advice and for help . . . he was that kind of man.

Over the years, they say, he helped more than fifty families from the Anthracite fields, locate in Bethlehem. Until he found work for them, he cared for them in his own home. In fact, the Rooney home was a terminal for unemployed miners and their families. Once the miners found work in the steel mills, they established their own homes, but kept the Rooney house as their headquarters. The Rooneys were seldom without visitors.

As warm hearted, as friendly and as generous as he was, he remembered his scars from the coal fields; he was a militant fighter for the rights of his fellow steel workers. He became their representative with management and both respected his fairness and judgment. Because of his leadership and his great capacity for making friends, he was naturally drawn into politics, not as a candidate, but as a fighter for social reforms which benefited his friends.

His wife was his great love and his boys, Leo and Fred, his companions. Their's was a home of deep affection and loyalty, not only to one another, but to all the people of South Bethlehem.

When he died in 1945, Mrs. Rooney urged her two sons, then in their teens, to continue their education. She worked during their college years to help them. Both interrupted their education for Army service, Leo the elder, with the engineers, and Fred with the paratroopers. Later Leo joined Bethlehem Steel as a sales engineer assigned to New York where he now resides with his wife, the former Virginia Price of Allentown, and their three children.

Fred, remaining with his mother, went into insurance and real estate. Energetic, personable and liking people, much the same as his father, he soon had friends throughout all Bethlehem.

The late Congressman Tad Walter, attracted by young Rooney's independence and sincerity, encouraged him to enter public service. The congressman, aware of his young friend's potential as a statesman, had Rooney at his side at the Geneva Conference. Senator Rooney repaid the congressman's confidence. His friends say that his re-election to the State Senate last Fall by a majority of 10,000 votes proves this, as well as gives evidence to the faith the people of Northampton County have in him.

Now Senator Rooney takes on a bigger task . . . to represent all of the people of the 15th District in the Congress of the United States. Congressman Walter would have liked this, as do the thousands and thousands of friends in this area. And they say that no one—for any purpose—can tear down the reputation of this fine young man, no more than they would his dad's. Because all the Rooneys are good, solid citizens.

STROUDSBURG — John G. Valence, 18 N. 7th St., Stroudsburg, has been reappointed District Manager in charge of the Pocono Mountains resort area by the annual Philadelphia Travel and Vacation Show.

Announcement of Valence's appointment was made July 26 by William B. Hall, show general manager.

Again in 1964 the Philadelphia exposition will feature the largest array of entertainment and exhibits from the fields of travel, vacation, recreation and the great-

The "whistle stop" tour will take place today beginning early in the morning. The caravan will proceed through the counties of Carbon, Monroe and Northampton.

From the theatre the caravan will move to Johnson's Diner in Tannersville for luncheon and then on to Stroudsburg for brief stops at the Giant-Acme lots in Stroud Township. The caravan should reach Stroudsburg at approximately 1:30 p.m.

'Force Behind Achievement' Institute Held At ESSC

EAST STROUDSBURG — National and State figures in the field of Employment Security were featured speakers at the institute Thursday at East Stroudsburg College by the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security.

The Association (IAPESS) is composed principally of people working in the State and Federal Employment Security Divisions.

Approximately 200 heard Dr. Louis Levine, director of the United States Employment Service, Washington, D. C., discuss "Staff Motivation for Effective Manpower Services." The institute's theme was "Human Motivation: The Force Behind Achievement."

Dr. Levine, a noted economist of national recognition traced the history of the country as related to the use and development of our Manpower resources.

He said, "Only in 1930 did this country become concerned about manpower and its human resources."

Speaking directly to the personnel of the Bureau of Employment Security he said further, "We in the field of human resources must recognize the importance of motivation." He further described our human resources as "our most crucial, precious possession in the nation" and said "the genesis of this nation is founded in the worth of the individual."

The keynote address was made by Dr. Eugene P. Powers, head of the Department of Education, East Stroudsburg, who also served as moderator for the afternoon panel-workshop session.

Dr. Powers stressed the importance of the job in employment security. He said, "Men like to work and man rises to his dignity in a society when he makes a contribution to society." He described our manpower resources as "soldiers in the front lines of the battle of beans and butter." Continuing, he said, "Full employment is a sheer necessity in the battle of economics and Employment Security is the front line of defense." He described the duty of helping one another as a "moral requirement."

John M. Clark, Director of the Commonwealth's State Employment Service, briefly addressed the institute and described motivation from the viewpoint of an administrator.

Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of East Stroudsburg College, provided the welcome to the Campus.

The afternoon was devoted to a combination Panel-Workshop arrangement which provided participation by all present. In addition to Dr. Powers the panel comprised—Clifford W. Depin, District Manager, International Ladies Garment Workers Union, Scranton; George M. Schmeltzer, Executive Director of the Keystone Building Contractors Association, Harrisburg; and Dr. Philip L. Leighton, Professor of Education at East Stroudsburg. The Panel devoted itself to an evaluation and consideration of the motivating forces which inspire human beings to accomplishment.

First of its kind ever to be conducted at East Stroudsburg, the guests were loud in their praise of the facilities and atmosphere of the local college. Introduced also were Guy Solfanelli, district manager of the Bureau of Employment Security, Wilkes-Barre; Joseph E. Fay, district manager, Bureau of Employment Security, Stroudsburg; Joseph J. Garrity, Hazleton, eastern vice president of IAPESS and trustee of East Stroudsburg State College.

District Representatives Gerard Brennan, Pottsville, and Jack Fox, Scranton, were also present.

A group of college professors served as discussion leaders during the Workshop sessions and as interrogators during the question-answer period. John F. Cooney of the Stroudsburg District Office, and Richard Corcoran, of the Wilkes-Barre District Office, served as co-chairmen for the successful event.

INSTITUTE PARTICIPANTS—Members of the "Human Motivation—The Force Behind Achievement" discussions at East Stroudsburg State College talk over points of the program. They are (l. to r.) John B. Clark, Dr. Louis Levine, John F. Cooney, and Joseph E. Fay.

Keeler, Mandy Visas Revoked

Vatican Paper Scores Trial

VATICAN CITY (AP)—L'Osservatore Romano yesterday assailed press reporting of the London trial of Dr. Stephen Ward, and called it one of the most disgusting stories in recent years.

The Vatican newspaper said: "In these days the press, with rare and praiseworthy exceptions, is dedicating columns and pages... to a trial taking place in London, reporting it in all of its most base details."

In District 20

S-burg L.L. Seeks Title

STROUDSBURG — It's another trip today for the hard-hitting Little League All Stars of Stroudsburg. The destination is Pennridge, the opponent is Bethlehem Northeast, game time is 5 p.m., and at stake is the District 20 championship.

The game will be broadcast locally by WVPO.

Winners of three straight playoff contests, the S-burg entry has rapidly caught the imagination of local fans who have lent the team full support in the tourney.

They have played as a well-coordinated team, despite the fact they began playing together for the first time only last week.

Victims of this club have been — in order — Slate Belt, 3-1; Bangor, 7-3; and Lehigh of Bethlehem, 7-0.

Fine Pitching

Of the four runs scored against Stroudsburg, only one in the three battles has been earned. John Heller, who has gone the distance in two of the games, has walked only two batters while fanning eight. He has yielded the only earned run against the team (to Slate Belt), and has pitched the only shutout thus far (against Lehigh).

Ed Strunk, who also went the route against Bangor in the second playoff tilt, chalked up nine strikeouts while issuing five bases on balls.

Heller also is the leading hitter on the squad, batting at a torrid .625 clip with five hits in eight trips. He has two RBIs and a home run.

Plenty of Power

Marty Phillips also has supplied plenty of power for the successful S-burgers with a pair of homers under his belt while hitting the ball for a nifty .500 average — four hits in eight at-bats.

Timmy Walsh, the sturdy catcher, who belted the team's other home run in these playoffs, and outfielder Bob Baylor are hitting playoff pitchers at .444 pace with four hits in nine trips. Walsh is the team's RBI leader with five while Phillips has banged across four runs.

The winner of today's game meets the Schuylkill County Area champion Tuesday at 6 p.m. in Minersville.

For the benefit of those planning to attend today's game, the directions to the field are:

Head south on Rt. 309 to Sellersville. At the third traffic signal make sharp left turn and continue to covered bridge on left. Take next left turn to the Pennridge ballfield.

OL' MAN BASEBALL KEEPS ROLLING — Stan Musial, shown (left) as a rookie 23 years ago when he came to the St. Louis Cardinals, has been in baseball since days when Frankie Albert was a football star, Bob Cousy was an 11-year-old kid in New York and American involvement in World War II was still months away. Today Musial, right, like the Mississippi River at his doorstep, keeps rolling along — his bat as respected as the strike of a rattlesnake.

Cicada 'Richest'; Still Seeks More

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cicada, the world's richest racing mare, will go after an additional $117,062 Saturday in the $165,812 Delaware Handicap at Delaware Park.

If successful she will jump from 17th to ninth place in the turf's list of top money winning horses.

The 14-mile Delaware, richest in the world for fillies and mares, will be contested by a field of 10, and ranks with the $100,000 guaranteed Sorority Stakes at Monmouth Park as the day's two leading thoroughbred battles.

Thirteen 2-year-old fillies were entered for the 6-furlong Sorority, a tough one to figure as the junior misses mix in their first big stakes that will help decide a champion in her division.

Cicada, who was voted the champion filly as a 2-year-old and again last year at three, is the 8-5 favorite although she packs top weight of 128 pounds at Delaware. Last year she lost by a head in the final strides as Seven Thirty won the rich event, which also ends the Delaware season.

More Money

The favorite, owned by the Meadow Stable, has won four stakes this season, and has total earnings of $758,324. She can boost her bankroll to $875,386.

Kerr Stable's Table Mate, Hollywood Park's champion mare, is rated a 2-1 chance as a result of winning Delaware's New Castle Stakes last Saturday in easy fashion. Table Mate packs 123 pounds, and will be ridden by Pete Moreno. Willie Shoemaker, who rode Cicada in the race a year ago, will try again.

At Monmouth the Wheatley Stable entry of Beautiful Day and Castle Forbes is probable choice at 2-1, with Nanuet Stable's Miss Twist and Hobbs Stable's Behaving Deby co-second choices at 3-1. Miss Twist, Behaving Deby and Beautiful Day have won important stakes, while Castle Forbes finished second in three major races.

If 13 start, the Sorority will gross $11,320, the winner taking $66,792 in the second richest running of the event.

Blazing Hawkins In 4-Stroke Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Long-hoed Fred Hawkins continued his blazing mastery of tricky Beverly Country Club course Friday with a 3-under-par 68 giving the lean Texan from El Paso a sizzling 36-hole total of 135 at the halfway mark of the 60th Western Open Golf Tournament, Hawkins opened Thursday with a par-etting 67.

That put Hawkins—whose only official PGA triumph in 16 years was the 1956 Oklahoma City Open—four strokes ahead of a pair of rallying stars, U.S. Open champion Julius Boros and inimitable Sam Snead, who fired 67 and 68, and consistent Bob McCallister, whose 69-70 also gave him 139.

A third star perking in the second round of the 72-hole chase for the $10,000 total swag in the $30,000 meet was leading money winner Arnold Palmer, rebounding to a 67 after a shaky opening 73.

Rebound With Vengeance

U.S. Track Team Smothers Poland

Associated Press Sports Writer
WARSAW, (AP) — The United States track and field team, rebounding with a vengeance from a narrow shave in Moscow last week, smothered Poland 68-36 Friday on the opening day of their two-day dual meet that ended in pitch darkness and confusion almost as black.

Confusion arose over whether John Pennel, recent graduate of Northeast Louisiana State, had broken his own world pole vault record.

Pennel finally was credited with a leap of 5.10 meters—16 feet, 8 1/2 inches—after being credited first with 5.11 (16 feet, 9 inches) and later 5.14 (16-10 1/2).

Confusion Arises

The confusion arose from translation of the metric system and the use of two languages—Polish and English.

Automobiles shone their headlights on the vaulting pit, Polish spectators chanted and stadium announcers vied with each other in compounding the confusion.

The final result — 16 feet, 8 1/2 inches—was exactly the same that Americans nine first places in the ten events, a smashing margin.

The American girls, humiliated at Moscow, bounced back too, with two victories in five events.

They trailed by only 24-27 after the day's competition.

The American men got off with a bang when veteran Hayes Jones of Detroit bounced back from a third-place against the Russians to grab the 110-meter hurdles in 13.6 seconds. Blaine Lindgren of Pasadena, was second in the American sweep.

Line Material Also Wins

STROUDSBURG — VFW moved to within a game of first-place Eagles yesterday in Monroe County Babe Ruth League play by taking an 8-3 triumph over the Exchange Club in one of two make-up games. Last-place Line Material registered a 20-7 romp over IBW in the other clash.

The VFW club wasted no time in gaining its win over Exchange as they blasted six runs across the plate in the first inning to lead all the way. Gallagher, Ford and Cramer each had two hits of the total 8-hit attack by the winners.

It was much the same story for Line Material. After falling behind at the start by 4-0 after IBW tallied four markers in the top of the first, Line Material blasted their way to the fore with 11 runs in the bottom of the same round and then poured six more runs over in the second to sew it up.

Rakow Returns

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ed Rakow, Kansas City Athletics pitcher, injured Thursday while pitching in Boston against the Red Sox, returned here Friday night for a thorough examination of his ailing left heel.

Dr. Paul Meyer hopes to determine the extent of the injury Saturday.

Rahn Wins Badminton Tourney

STROUDSBURG — Ned Rahn is winner of the Stroudsburg Playground badminton tournament, gaining a 22-20 win over Mike Stalinski. Stalinski blew a 20-16 lead as Rahn gained six straight points for the victory.

Rahn and teammate Randy Rupert also won the doubles tourney in a match against Stalinski and Ed Harper. Both matches were for the 12-13-year-olds.

For the 14-15 age bracket, Johnny Glalouris captured the trophy by beating Mike Counterman in a close game, 21-17. Glalouris and Counterman also combined for a doubles match triumph over Bill Bishing and Tom Lambert, 21-14, in the finals. A trophy was presented each winner.

A track and field meet will be held next week.

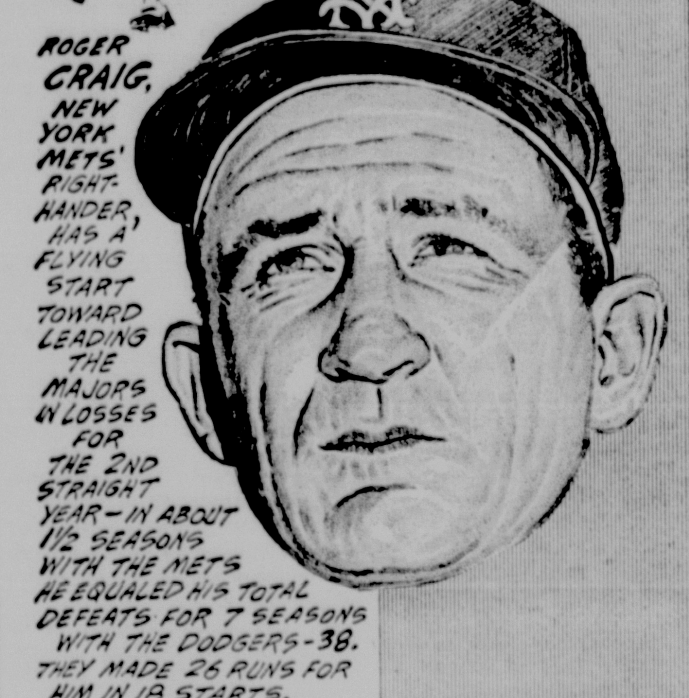

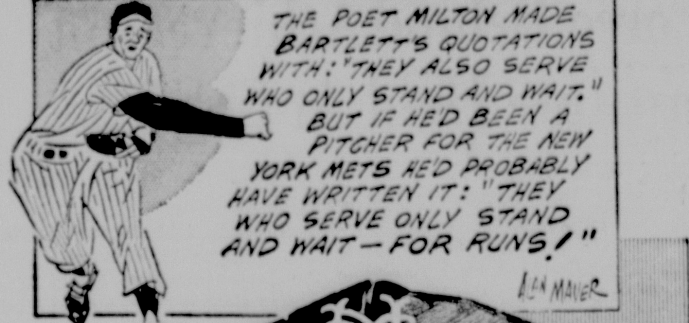

Byers Switched

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP)—Ken Byers, second-year defensive end from Cincinnati University, was switched to offensive guard Friday by Coach Al Sherman of the New York Football Giants and will get his first test in the position in Saturday's 90-minute scrimmage.

RUN-STARVED ROGER -- By Alan Maver

West End-S-burg Features PMBL

STILL fresh in combining their talent as an All Star unit in trimming Wind Gap of the Blue Mountain League Wednesday night, the Pocono Mountain Baseball League players return to their usual teams tomorrow in resuming action for "business as usual."

The top players of the six-team PMBL Star squad throtled Wind Gap in Bangor's Memorial Stadium under the lights 4-2.

But now the wars return within the realms of their own circuit.

And headlining tomorrow's play is the Stroudsburg-West End battle on the Gilbert field.

West End currently holds the top spot in the loop, and no matter what happens tomorrow the Gilbert nine will still hold that roost — although a loss would loosen their hold considerably. At the moment, West End holds a commendable 12-2 record and a game-and-a-half edge over the second place S-burgers.

Sew It Up

Coach Wes Shaffer's West Enders, on the other hand could probably sew up another first-place finish by trimming the A's of Coach Dick Miller. A win would supply a two-and-a-

BUCKLE UP!

Seat belts can save at least 5000 lives a year—reduce serious injuries by 1/3

Isn't it time to heed this advice from The National Safety Council? Isn't it time to protect your loved ones and yourself by installing seat belts in your car?

Seat belts are life belts. Without a life belt, when your car stops suddenly in a collision or emergency, you keep going with tremendous force. Into dash, windshield, window, or back of front seat. But with a seat belt, you "stay put" ... with a vital Margin of Safety between you and serious injury.

Don't wait. Install and use seat belts now. You'll drive with a new peace of mind.

Buckle up for safety with seat belts every time you drive!

Nixon Heckled At Berlin Wall

BERLIN (AP) — Richard M. Nixon stood his ground against heckling Communists in East Berlin yesterday and shook hands with Germans caged behind the Red-built wall cutting this city in half.

The former U.S. vice president was trailed by five carloads of Communists — security agents and newsmen — who tried repeatedly to provoke him into arguments.

Nixon walked through the wall at 2:45 p.m. from Checkpoint Charlie, the U.S. control point. He returned to West Berlin 3½ hours later. He was accompanied by his wife and two daughters.

Picket U.S. Delegation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — An estimated 150 men and women picketed U.S. delegation headquarters opposite the U. N. yesterday on behalf of the movement for the independence of Puerto Rico.

THE space suits of astronauts carry instruments to record the amount of radiation to which they are subjected. Readings from the instruments are entered on each astronaut's record so the total of all radiation received may be known.

Strauser's Art Impresses Syracuse Critics

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Sterling Strauser of 150 Ananook St., East Stroudsburg had more than 50 of his works on display in Syracuse, N.Y., at a special one day exhibit recently.

Several interesting developments came as a direct result of this exhibit. Dr. Max Sullivan, Director of the Everson Museum in Syracuse was so impressed that tentative arrangements have been made for a several weeks showing of artist Strauser's work in the Fall. Paul O'Connor, of the Drake

Gallery in Fayetteville (a suburb of Syracuse) was likewise so impressed that he asked if he could borrow the works on exhibit for display in his gallery from the 4th of July through Labor Day.

The works on exhibit were from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Lloyd of Buffalo and Syracuse, art collectors and dealers.

During the past year they have displayed Strauser's works in the Roosevelt Park Memorial Institute, the St. Mark's Episcopal Church, the University of Buffalo, and in the Adam, Mel-drum and Anderson's Department Store (all in Buffalo). The Lloyds are old friends of the artist and have visited him many times here at his studio.

Strauser is a familiar figure in local art circles. He has resided for more than 25 years here in East Stroudsburg, during this period he has taught summer art classes and evening classes in the local schools.

Strauser is a self-taught artist, however, Lloyd and other knowledgeable critics point out that Strauser has long since passed the naive outlook of the primitive.

He has reached a degree of sophistication along with a simplification of subject presentation that makes his work much in demand in the cosmopolitan market.

Strauser's work may be seen locally at his studio and gallery and examples are generally on view in all of the local art exhibits both here and in the surrounding area, including Allentown and Scranton. He has been represented in N. Y. by "The Little Studio Ltd.", where his works are much in demand by important TV and theatrical personalities.

The Lloyds first became acquainted with artist Strauser many years ago through Mrs. Lloyd's cousins Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Yutz of East Stroudsburg. Yutz and Strauser were formerly business associates at the International Boiler Works. Mrs. Lloyd has several other cousins in this area including Mrs. Margaret Field, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ewing and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pope.

Do you ever pause to listen to the voice of God? We hear it every day, wherever we may be.

In the whispering of tall trees . . . the music of rushing brooks . . . the songs of the birds . . . the gay laughter of happy children . . . we hear the voice of the Great Creator. Through his infinite grace a bird is enabled to serenade his mate, a tiny cricket chirps its faint refrain.

God is the Bringer of all blessings to man and beast alike.

Let us give thanks to Him who has so enriched our lives. Open church doors beckon all over our land. Let us seek the House of the Lord, and enter in to pay Him homage. Here through prayer and humility, let us rededicate ourselves to His service and glorification.
